Report:

The department organised an online induction programme for students. In the time of pandemic when normal life had been stalled and the internet and online services provided an alternative to somehow survive amidst the fear of the virus and impending death and disease, studies continued in the online mode. HOD, Prof. Madhu Sriwastav gave the welcome address and invited Principal, Dr. Subhash Biswas to give the inaugural speech. He enlightened and motivated the students with his words of wisdom to continue their studies in the given circumstances. All teachers of the department were present and gave their valuable inputs to students regarding the course and how they could study even in the pandemic. Prof. Madhu Sriwastav made a power point presentation on the entire CBCS syllabus, its objectives and outcome. This was followed by another power point presentation by Prof. Ashis Biswas who gave students a clear idea about the CGPA score of the CBCS system, importance of attending classes and internal exams. Prof. Rejaul Molla and Prof. Shiv Narayan Verma also gave valuable inputs to the students regarding the course and curriculum. It was followed by a question answer session for students to clarify their doubts or answer other queries.

Outcome: The orientation provided students a solid foundation to build their relationship with the institution and begin their journey with confidence. It helped them do things with the necessary know how, facilitating better learning.

Outcome: Students were initiated in the CBCS course as they were given an idea of what it constituted and what they needed to do to work around it.
