The proceedings of the seminar session started with the welcome speech of Ashis Biswas, to the present students of the Department. It is followed by the speech of the one of the faculty of the department and the Convenor of the Exam Committee of the college, Rejaul Molla, who talked about the new CBCS exam process and the students’ seminar as one of the parts of the evaluation process of the students. After this the Head of the Department, Madhu Sriwastav talked on the relevance of students’ seminar for the optimum exposure of students towards higher mode of learning and how the department plans to continue it in the future as well. It is followed by the paper presentation session of the students of the English Honours, 1st Semester (July-December 2018 session). They are given a topic of their choice from the list of topics on the subject which they presented in front of their friends. All the papers were well received by the audience. Later on, a question answer session was held where all the students participated in the discussion on the various issues related to the Ancient Greek Literature. The outcome of the seminar proved to be the better engagement of the students in the course of their studies through participation rather than one way lecture methodology. The event was a successful one and all students enjoys this new mode of participative learning. The seminar was concluded with vote of thanks by the organising secretary, Ashis Biswas.
