Date: 30.08.2017

Venue: Seminar Hall, BHKM.

Organizer: Prajna Paromita Podder

Assistant Professor and HOD

Dept. of History, BHKM.

The Department of History at BHKM organized an Orientation Programme specifically designed for the students pursuing a History (Hons.) degree on August 30, 2017. The proposal for this event was diligently presented during a Departmental meeting, where it gained the approval of the esteemed faculty members. Subsequently, the proposal was forwarded to the Seminar and Research Committee of the college. Once the Committee and the Principal reviewed and granted their endorsement, the necessary arrangements and preparations were promptly put into motion.

For this significant occasion, two renowned professors were invited to deliver lectures and share their expertise. Prof. Sanhita Mukherjee from R B C College, Naihati, and Prof. Ananya Niyogi from Mahadebananda Mahavidyalaya, Barrackpore graciously accepted the invitation to enlighten the attendees.

On the day of the event, the Programme commenced with a ceremonial lighting of the pradip, symbolizing the enlightenment of knowledge, by the esteemed Principal, Dr. Subhas Biswas. The students set the ambiance with a melodious welcome song, captivating the audience's attention and setting a positive tone for the proceedings. The Head of the Department (HOD), Prajna Paromita Podder, then delivered a warm welcome note, expressing gratitude to all participants.

Following the initial introductions, the students of History extended a warm welcome to the esteemed guests and the Principal of the college. The Principal then took the opportunity to express his appreciation and deliver a welcome note to the distinguished guests, acknowledging their valuable presence.

Subsequently, Prof. Sanhita Mukherjee took center stage, captivating the audience with her insights on the evolving patterns within the syllabus. She discussed the changes and advancements made in the field of History, providing the students with a broader perspective. Prof. Ananya Niyogi then took the baton, emphasizing the art of effectively writing answers by drawing examples from various facets of the syllabus. Both professors meticulously elaborated on the intricacies of the honours syllabus, highlighting essential reference books and resources that would prove instrumental in the students' academic journey. The engaged audience of eighty-two students attentively listened to the esteemed guests, absorbing knowledge and valuable insights for nearly three hours.

The Orientation Programme reached its conclusion with a vote of thanks expressed by the Head of the Department. This gesture aimed to convey gratitude to all those involved in making the event a resounding success, including the guests, Principal, faculty members, and students who actively participated.

The Orientation Programme organized by the Department of History at BHKM played a vital role in acquainting History (Hons.) students with the various aspects of their academic journey. By inviting esteemed professors and experts in the field, the event provided a platform for students to gain valuable insights, broaden their understanding of the subject, and enhance their writing skills. The efforts of the faculty members and the support of the Seminar and Research Committee and the Principal were instrumental in orchestrating a memorable and enriching experience for all attendees. Such initiatives foster a conducive learning environment and contribute to the overall development of students pursuing their passion for History.
