The Department of Political Science observed the Constitution Day on 26th November, 2021. This day was marked for the first time in the college since its declaration in the college in the year 2015. The department of Political Science, BHKM along with concerned teachers and students paved the way for marking this day every year now on. It was a great pleasure to have celebrated this day in the college. This day as we know is extremely significant has the Constitution of India, the largest of its kind was drafted on this very day in the year 1949 and it came to effect on 26th January 1950.

With the effort of students, teachers and the college community this event turned out to be very successful at this first go. The day began with a short preparation by the students and was followed by a two hour long event from 1-3 PM. Our Principal, Dr. Subhash Biswas was very happy and extremely cooperative towards the observation of this day for the first time in our college. The 72nd Constitution day was organized under the organizing secretary and HOD of the Political Science Department along with another department teacher Dr. Minakshi Biswas.

The 72nd Constitution Day program began with the reading of the Preamble by a student of the Department. It was followed by a speech of the Principal of the College. Teachers from different departments presented their views on the significance of the Constitution thereafter.

The Principal, Dr. Subhash Biswas highlighted the importance of the Indian Constitution in a very lucid manner stating that all the celebration of other significant days are possible only because we have the Constitution, the Supreme law of the land. The Constitution, he stated is one of the finest of its kind that has allowed India to flourish. He also contended that this day will be marked with more enthusiasm by the entire teaching community and with the collaboration of all departments from next year onwards.
