HumayunZahiruddin Amir-i-Kabir (1906-1969), an educationist, politician, writer, philosopher, was born on 22 February 1906 at Komarpur village Bangladesh. HumayunKabir was a versatile literary talent, and political acumen with active His father, Kabiruddin Ahmad, was a deputy outlook and independent mind. HumayunKabir near the district town of Faridpur, man, combining intellectual brilliance, leadership and a non-communal outlook. magistrate and a man with a liberal was an exceptional talent in many ways.

He topped the list of successful candidates in the Matriculation examination of 1922 with star marks. He studied at Presidency College for the next two years and passed the Higher Secondary examination, standing third in the first division with letter marks in English. He did his Honours and Masters in English from Calcutta University and set a new record by standing first class first in both examinations.

HumayunKabir decided not to enter in government services. He opted for teaching and went to Exeter College, Oxford, in 1928 on a scholarship. There he took up Honours in 'Modern Greats', i.e, philosophy, political science and economics. Here too, he stood first class first in 1931. He also established himself as a student leader and orator. In 1932, Kabir joined Andhra University as a lecturer in philosophy at the invitation of Dr S. Radhakrishnan. A year later he joined Calcutta University. Alongside teaching, he devoted himself to literary activities and became associated with trade union politics. He joined KrishakPraja Party and was elected to the Bengal Legislative Assembly (1937-1947). Although an intellectual of high standards, he was a strong advocate of the rights of peasants and workers. He was president of three large Indian trade unions. In 1946, HumayunKabir became private secretary to the Congress president MaulanaAbulKalam Azad. When AbulKalam Azad became the Education Minister, Kabir served as joint education advisor, education secretary and chairman of the University Grants Commission. The Moulana dictated his famous book India Wins Freedom to him in Urdu.

In 1956, HumayunKabir was elected as member of the Indian RajyaSabha or upper house. Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru appointed him State Minister for Civil Aviation and, after the death of Moulana Azad in 1958, made him Minister for Education. Kabir was later appointed Minister for Scientific Research and Cultural Affairs. From 1957 until his death in 1969 he was a member of LokSabha from Bashirhat constituency of West Bengal. When LalBahadurShastri became Prime Minister of India after Nehru's death, HumayunKabir was again appointed as the Education Minister. He was also one of the codrafters of the UNESCO 1950 statement titled The Race Question.

HumayunKabir achieved success in every sphere of his life. This is true about his literary activities also. Although he was a restless person with a consistent smile on his face, he was a thoughtful writer and developed an attractive style. He worked as an editor from his schooldays. In 1920, he edited his high school magazine, in 1926, he edited the Presidency

College magazine, and at Oxford, he edited two journals: Sis and Cherwell. On his return home, in 1932, he started editing Baromashi, a monthly journal. However, in the history of Bangla periodicals, he will be remembered for the high quality quarterly Chaturanga (1939-69). He also edited reports and books for many local and foreign organisations. A collection of Bangla short stories and poems, Green and Gold (1958) deserves special mention.

HumayunKabir was a poet, novelist, and essayist. He made his literary debut in 1928 with Svapnasadh, Sathi (1930) and followed by Astadashi(1938). The poems in these volumes reflect his romanticism in which he followed the tradition of Rabindranath Tagore. Equally fluent in Bangla and Urdu, he translated Musaddas-e-Haliinto Bangla. HumayunKabir was also a fiction writer of some note, writing both short stories and novels. In the thirties, a number of his short stories were published. His novel, Nadi O Nari, was published in 1945. Its English version, Men and Rivers, was also published at about the same time. This novel, which tells about the lives of Bengali Muslims who dwell on the banks of the Padma, was made into a film in Dhaka in 1956.

HumayunKabir was, however, known primarily as an essayist. He wrote, equally fluently in both Bangla and English, very readable essays on philosophy, literature, education and sociology. Some of his well-known books are Imanuel Kant (1936), SharatSahityerMultattva (1942), BanglarKavya (1945), <a href="Marxbad(1951), <a href="Marxbad(1951), <a href="Marxbad(1951), <a href="Marxbad(1957), <a href=

Well-known as an orator, HumayunKabir was invited to speak by many universities at home and abroad. At Oxford, he delivered the Herbert Spencer Lectures on Einstein and Russell. He was the first Asian to have this honour. In 1957 he spoke at the Kamgari Conference of Maulana Abdul Hamid Khan Bhasani as leader of the Indian delegation. For his contribution in the field of culture he was honoured with awards by universities such as Aligarh, Annamalai, Khairagarh (Madhya Pradesh,), Viswa-Bharati, Mahishur and Athens. He died of heart attack in Kolkata on 18 August 1969.

Our Acknowledgement

BamanpukurHumayunKabirMahavidyalaya has been a long awaited and cherished dream of the locality.
